

THE RETAIL PRICE CEILING, effective December 1st, must and will definitely be maintained. To accomplish this, prices and costs of manufacturers and wholesalers will be reduced, if necessary, but retail prices cannot go up. Methods of adjustment which may be applied in certain cases to reduce manufacturers' and wholesalers' prices will be announced shortly. This is the gist of a statement made by an official of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board expressing the unequivocal determination of the Board to carry out the price ceiling policy on the basis already announced. It was made clear that the Board, in recent discussions, has fully reviewed and has definitely rejected proposals which have come from various sources as to alternative methods of policy. The Board has found that all such alternative proposals would inevitably result in higher retail prices and so would mean a continuation of the inflation spiral. The whole purpose of the Board's operation will be to prevent retail price increases and to stop the upward spiral. The Board will make public a general statement of policy which will clarify the positions of retailers, wholesalers, importers and manufacturers under the maximum price regulations. The statement will also explain methods of adjustment which will be applied, where necessary, in reducing costs and prices of manufacturers and wholesalers. Many branches of industry and trade, which have had opportunity to examine details of policy with the Board in recent discussions, have expressed their intention to co-operate fully in strict enforcement of the retail price ceiling, despite losses which they may have to bear. Branches of industry which have not yet had opportunity to become familiar with all the factors of the price situation will receive detailed information in the statement of policy which the Board intends to issue shortly.

THREE MAJOR STEPS in further organization of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for its extensive new functions were announced by the Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance. The three steps are a change in the Chairmanship, the establishment of an important new body to trade in commodities and control commodity prices, and the enlargement of the Board to provide further co-ordination of the several governmental departments involved. Donald Gordon, Deputy Governor of the Bank of Canada, who has been serving as Associate Chairman during the preparatory period of the past two weeks, now becomes chairman of the Board and will be the directing head of the price ceiling policy. Hector B. McKinnon, the previous Chairman, will continue as a member of the Board and will take on new duties as President of a commodity prices stabilization corporation, now being organized, which will operate to implement the policy of the Board in connection with the purchase and resale of various commodities, particularly raw materials, at prices which will ensure the maintenance of retail ceiling prices. "Mr. McKinnon's years of experience as Commissioner of Tariffs and Chairman of the Tariff Board," Mr. Ilsley said, "make him a recognized authority in the field of imports, import prices, and the whole structure of Canadian industry. The Corporation will be engaging in increasingly important and large-scale transactions, involving heavy financial commitments and use of Government funds, and Mr. McKinnon, a senior Government Adviser, will be sure to receive the same measure of public confidence as the Government reposes in him in asking him to assume the heavy responsibilities of his new office." S. R. Noble, of Montreal, Assistant General Manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, who has been Sugar Administrator for the past two years, and is now acting as a Special Adviser to the Board on these problems, will probably be Vice-President of the new corporation. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has been enlarged by the addition of four new members, these being: L. Dana Wilgress, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, Bryce M. Stewart, Deputy Minister of Labor, J. G. Bouchard, Assistant Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Walter Lockhart Gordon, Special Assistant to the Deputy Minister of Finance. By the addition of these members the Wartime Prices and Trade Board now represents all the governmental departments and agencies most directly concerned in control of prices, including Agriculture, Labor, Finance, Trade and Commerce, Munitions and Supply, National Revenue, and the Bank of Canada. The Board now consists of eleven members, the other seven being: Donald Gordon, Chairman, Hector B. McKinnon, David Sim, F. A. McGregor, A. M. Shaw, Yves Lamontagne and R. C. Berkinshaw. Mr. Berkinshaw is Chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board and his membership in the Wartime Prices Board provides close co-ordination between the two Boards. The Secretary of the latter Board is K. W. Taylor. By these steps the central administration of the price ceiling organization is regarded as complete. Substantial progress has been made during the past week toward completing the organization of Co-ordinators and Administrators who will have responsibility for maintenance of price control in all branches of Canadian business and industry. Administrators of the major commodities and industries and of the retail and wholesale trades have already been appointed and regional offices of the Wartime Prices Board, from coast to coast, are being established. Further appointments are pending and it is believed that the very extensive organization required to administer and enforce the price ceiling will be substantially completed before the deadline date of Dec. 1. In general, the work of the Wartime Prices Board, in dealing directly with questions of policy, rests in the hands of the permanent civil servants of long experience and high repute, supplemented by outstanding business executives, such as R. C. Berkinshaw and S. R. Noble; while execution of policy in each industry and branch of trade will be supervised by men of top ranking in their respective fields, recruited from business and agriculture for the public service in this tremendous undertaking.

Latest official statistics on Canada's ARMED FORCES show approximately 344,000 men enlisted for active service anywhere. Of this number, about 100,000 are overseas. By services, total active enlistments to date are as follows: navy, 25,000; army, 230,000; air force, 89,000; total 344,000. The dead or missing to the end of October are: navy, 403; army, 861; air force, 823. . . . Canada is facing an acute SHORTAGE OF STEEL, according to the steel controller. A speeding up of scrap salvage operations is urged to relieve the situation with a heavy appeal for heavy scrap such as old stoves, automobile parts, disused machinery and tools. The public is warned that enamelware and tin cans are of no use. Industry is urged to scrap disused machinery and parts which the management may have held for a period of years for their resale value. Scrap prices are fixed and will remain so for the duration.

ANNUAL BAZAAR WELL SUPPORTED BY CATHOLICS

Over Five Hundred Guests Served at Chicken Supper—Music And Games Conclude Successful Event

The annual Catholic Bazaar was held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Saturday, November 22, and the committee reports that the affair was a great success.

The upper hall was tastefully decorated in autumn colors and lined with booths on either side. The display of articles for sale was arranged in a most pleasing manner, and stall holders found ready buyers for their wares.

The convenors for the various booths were: home cooking, Mrs. Sutherland; novelties, Miss M. Casorso; pillow slips, Miss F. Heron; candy, Mrs. J. Bedford; religious articles, Children of Mary; fish pond, junior choir; main raffle, Mrs. F. Bedford; soft drinks, Mrs. Flister and Mrs. Schneider; fancy work, Mrs. Clacela; aprons, Mrs. Noonan; afternoon tea, Mrs. Ghezzi.

A chicken supper was served in the spacious dining room to over 500 guests, under the direction of Mrs. Spear. Table arrangements and serving were in the hands of Mrs. Pavle. Serviteurs were the girls of the intermediate and senior choirs, and the young men of the C.Y.O.

Music was provided by Mr. Rittich, cello, and Mr. Molnar, violin, accompanied by Mrs. C. M. Austin at the piano.

Games were played during the evening, these being in charge of the Knights of Columbus.

Following are a list of the prize winners and prizes won: Ticket No. 1890, Cedar Chest, won by Martin Wagner; 1220, Tri-Lite, won by Otto Boklage; 2640, Set of Dishes won by Flora Barber; 201, Breakfast Set, won by J. Irazawa; 115, Cushion, won by Mrs. Fred Mohart; 149, Lamp, won by Miss Modjeski; 190, Apron, won by T. Welder; 109, Ham, won by Benny Heltzman; 189, Biddell Doll, won by Rose Rogom; 368, Turkey, won by Mrs. George Gordon; 472, Ham, won by Mrs. J. F. Appleton; 146, Cake, won by Mrs. Orsi; 125, Cushion, won by Maxine Maxson; 208, Smoker, won by Teresa Crease; 231, Permanent Wave, won by O. Day; 184, Oil Picture, won by Clara Guidi; 14, Nite-Lite, won by Bill Hoegel; 29, Pair Applique Towels, won by Mrs. Noonan; 67, Vanity Set, won by Mrs. J. J. Gaudet. Grand prize of 306 lbs. True weight, 306½ lbs.

HYSLOP POOL CLOSED WEDNES.

The Hyslop crab-apple pool was closed by B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd. on Wednesday and cheques were mailed.

It is expected that the grape pool will be closed within the next week, and it is hoped that the peach pool cheques will be mailed within the next ten days.

Many Changes Being Made To Make City Park More Attractive for Citizens

Ground Being Levelled Off And Will Be Cut By Mower—Principal Project Centres Around Athletic Oval—Suggested Old Board Fence Come Down—Some Trees To Come Out—Most Of Them Dead or Rotten—Alderman Parkinson Explains Project

A LARGE number of small changes are being made in the Park this year and in the aggregate should result in a considerable improvement in what is one of Kelowna's greatest assets. The Kelowna Park is recognized as one of the most attractive playgrounds in any small city, not only in this province, but in the entire Dominion. During the past three years a steady improvement has been made and an elastic, long-term program mapped out. At the present time certain items on the program are being carried out.

The largest project of the present program is under way at the Harvey arena, opposite the Harvey arena entrance, opposite the Harvey arena. At this point and the athletic oval, a few rotten or scraggly trees are being taken out and the whole area is being leveled off. This will enable a mower to cut the grass during the summer and this area next year should show as great an improvement as that between the Harvey and Leon entrances this year.

The area now being improved was so rough and cut up with small trees that it was impossible to operate a mower. It is this condition that is being remedied.

The wild strip between the box and the road is being brought under some control, and the procedure is being taken with a twenty-foot strip just north of the box.

One of the eyesores of the whole Park has been the unpainted and dilapidated wooden fence surrounding the oval and the strip of uncollected land between that fence and the roadway. This strip has been plowed and levelled off, and next year it will be possible to cut it with the power mower, eliminating the weed nuisance and improving the general appearance of the Park considerably.

The fence itself is under consideration. Many visitors at the present time never see the attractive oval inside the fence. There has been the suggestion that the fence should come down this year and thus make a sweep of well-kept lawn right from Mill Creek to the grandstand.

It is argued that this is feasible, as during the war there will be few, Turn to Page 14, Story 2

McKay Agrees To Allow Name to Stand as City Mayor for Third Term

Mayor McKay Yields to Pressure From Ratepayers And Will Allow His Name to Stand For One More Term—Jones, Pettigrew and Parkinson Will All Probably Stand For Re-election—Mayor Has Served City Seventeen Years

MAYOR G. A. McKay is definitely in the field again this year and on Wednesday stated that he had reluctantly yielded to the pressure of public opinion and consented to contest the mayoralty election on December 11th. This will probably mean that Mr. McKay will receive an acclamation as at present there seems to be little opposition to him on the horizon. All three members of the Council whose terms are expiring will probably stand again. They are Aldermen O. L. Jones, James Pettigrew and R. Parkinson. There has been no indication as yet of any further candidates entering the field. If none do, the three council men will be returned by acclamation.

Alderman Parkinson has definitely stated that he will allow his name to stand again, Alderman Pettigrew has given the same indication. On Wednesday, Alderman Jones was not in town, so as to confirm or deny the general impression that he would stand again, but sources close to Mr. Jones felt certain that he will not retire from the municipal arena at this time.

In making his announcement, Mayor McKay stated that he had been approached by a great many ratepayers who requested that he should stand again. He said that he appreciated this support and, although he felt it was time he retired, he had consented to remain for one more year.

I have served on the City Council for seventeen years," His Worship stated, "and I think that it is about long enough. It is time I retired. It is only because a great many ratepayers apparently wish me to stay as Mayor one more year that I am consenting to stand again. I appreciate the honor the ratepayers have bestowed upon me, but I wish you would make it plain that this is my last term."

Aldermen Jones and Pettigrew have been members of the Council for many years, while Alderman Parkinson is finishing his first term, having been elected two years ago. Mr. Jones has been Chairman of Finance since 1931, while Mr. Pettigrew has been chairman of the Water and Light department for a number of years. During the past year Mr. Parkinson has been in charge of the Parks department.

There are also two vacancies on the Board of School Trustees. The terms of J. M. Brydon and W. W. Riddell are just expiring. Mr. Brydon was undecided on Wednesday as to whether or not he would stand again, but indicated that he was so inclined. Mr. Riddell has moved to Penticton and the vacancy thus created must be filled.

NINETY-SEVEN CARS WERE SHIPPED LAST WEEK Only ninety-seven cars were shipped by B.C. Tree Fruits during the week but the movement is continuing steadily. Sixty-eight of the cars went to domestic outlets while the balance, 29, went export.

It is anticipated that the balance of the export shipments will be made during the next few days. To date some 1,061,000 boxes have been shipped export. The total order was for 1,200,000 and it is this balance which is now being cleaned up.

Tree Fruit officials have recently made a survey of the stocks in storage and report them to be generally in excellent condition in the Okanagan.

The balance of the processed cherries put up in the Okanagan and the Kootenays have been sold at list prices.

CONSERVATIVES GIVE DINNER HERE TONIGHT

Hundred And Fifty Expected To Be Present to Honor Bennett And Stirling

Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale riding, and W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, are to be the guests of honor at a dinner to be held at the Royal Anne Hotel tonight, Thursday, November 27.

The dinner is given under the sponsorship of the Kelowna and District Conservative Association, and it is expected that over 150 persons will be present to pay tribute to the guests of honor and to celebrate Mr. Bennett's victory at the polls in the last provincial election.

Special guests will be present from other sections of the province, and will include Gordon Lindsay, of Vernon, and Tom Daly, of Penticton.

In addition to a special program of entertainment, the gathering will be addressed by the guests of honor.

SKI CLUB WILL STAGE DANCE

Provide Entertainment To Complete Preview Night

One of the complaints about Preview Night has been that after the stores closed on that evening there was a lot of the evening left and nothing to do. The Kelowna Ski Club proposes to remedy that situation this year, and is sponsoring a dance in the I.O.O.F. Hall starting immediately after the nine o'clock bell goes in the stores.

The music will be furnished by Freddy Thompson's orchestra, and the price of admission is set at a figure to entice the most penurious. In addition there will be a drawing of lucky admission tickets with suitable prizes being given.

The Ski Club is staging the dance to raise funds to permit them to continue work on their new ski bowl on Black Knight Mountain. The Okanagan Ski Zone championship meet is to be held here in February and some additional work must be done to the bowl to have it in shape. A suitable ski bowl is a definite asset to any community and until this year Kelowna has been handicapped in this regard. The ski club is working hard to give the community a good winter sports ground and community minded persons can use this as an excuse—if one is needed—for attending the club's preview night frolic.

J.B.'S MAKE MERRY AT SMOKER

Mirth And Merriment Reign Supreme When Junior Boarders Hold Big Night at I.O.O.F. Hall

Citizens of Kelowna who were in the vicinity of the I.O.O.F. Hall on the night of Wednesday, November 19, may have thought an evening of merriment was in progress, together with a couple of minor wars thrown in for good measure.

However, there was no need for misgiving; it was merely the Junior Board of Trade's annual smoker in full swing.

It was the J.B.'s' night to howl, and the members and guests were entertained by a program of diphtheria, which evoked roars of merriment from the appreciative audience.

A number of wrestling bouts were staged, in which the "ref" suffered as much or more than the principals, who mixed up good wrestling with all the modern clowning of the big-time squirmers. All bouts proceeded according to plan and ended up in draws, which was fair enough, although the general opinion seemed to be that the squirmers should have been given the decision.

The highlight of the show was a demonstration of mesmerism given by G. W. H. Reed, of Glenmore. Eight strong-willed local citizens offered themselves as "human guinea pigs", and after meeting the baleful glare of Hypnotist Reed, promptly lost the ability to tell their names or move their arms.

Mr. Reed closed his exhibition of mind over matter by daring "Tiny" Walrod to plant a haymaker on his chin, and the hilarious gathering roared with mirth as "Tiny" let fly lefts and rights which always missed their mark.

A twelve-piece band provided music that really sizzled when it got "in the groove" with a lot of hot stuff.

JAY BEES TO HOLD RUMMAGE SALE

Proceeds From Sale to Go To Red Cross—Sale On Saturday, December 6, at Lawson Warehouse

The Kelowna Junior Board of Trade will hold an auction sale to dispose of material gathered by the Red Cross on Saturday, December 6, at the old Lawson warehouse, on Water Street, reports Jay Bee President Harry Witt.

All proceeds from this superfluity rummage sale will go to the Red Cross.

The committee in charge would appreciate any further donations of goods, and anyone having suitable articles for disposal may leave them at Treadwell's Paint Shop, or a phone call to 134 will result in the articles being picked up by the Junior Board.

No Selling or Buying On Local Merchants' Big Christmas Preview

Third Annual Christmas Preview Night Promises to Be Biggest And Best—Local Merchants Have Completed Plans For Two Hours of Fun And Information—War Makes Selection of Christmas Gifts A Little More Difficult—Merchants Have Fine Stocks to Be Shown on Wednesday Night

Hundred Dollars In Prizes

"IT LOOKS like the best Preview Night we have ever held," Don Whitham, chairman of the merchants' committee in charge of the Preview Night arrangements, stated on Wednesday.

"The experience gained the past two years is standing us in good stead and the one or two little difficulties encountered in other years have been eliminated this year, we believe." Kelowna merchants are now busy planning their displays for their 3rd annual Preview Night, which they will present to the buying public of the Kelowna district, on Wednesday night next, when it is expected that several thousand persons will take advantage of the opportunity of seeing what the local merchants have to offer in the way of Christmas gifts.

Preview Night has become a Kelowna institution and it is a unique occasion not only in the province but in the entire Dominion. Three years ago local merchants conceived the idea of giving the buying public an opportunity of looking over the goods available in the local stores without embarrassment. They recognized that in small towns it was sometimes a little embarrassing for a person to examine an article minutely, ask all sorts of questions about it, and then not buy it or go on to some other store to see what it had to offer in the same line.

"Let's give the people an opportunity of seeing our goods, asking questions and comparing them, without feeling that they must buy the first article they look at," the merchants said.

Preview Night was the result. Customers can look, feel, try, and ask questions about any article on Wednesday night to their heart's content and need not feel embarrassed as, even though the customer wanted to buy right then and there, the merchant could not sell or take the order.

That is the fundamental rule of Preview Night. No merchant can sell a single penny's worth of goods and he can take no order. Indeed, the embarrassment is on the merchant's side, for last year more than 100 merchants were forced to state that he could not take the order and if the customer wanted the article he must come back or telephone the following morning.

Preview Night actually is a service by the local merchants to their customers. Perfectly true it is that the merchants hope that the Preview will help their business, but the fundamental idea behind it is to assist Mr. and Mrs. Kelowna in the selection of their Christmas gifts.

And perhaps this is more important than this year ever before. The war has placed certain restrictions on Christmas gifts this year. Certain lines of goods have become harder to get. Those which come from across the seas have been affected. Some are entirely off the market, thanks to Hitler's occupation of Europe. Others are not available because of lack of shipping space. Foreign exchange has also affected other lines. Certain classes of goods from the United States have been restricted, and Canada simply has the local afford to send its money out of the country for goods other than war supplies and definitely essential foodstuffs.

Canadian-made goods have also been affected as many of our factories are busy on war supplies and the priorities give first place to war goods.

Despite all this, Kelowna merchants are enthusiastic about their Christmas gift stock this year. They have made a badgering manufacturers to obtain a wide and varied selection which they now offer to the Kelowna buying public.

Local merchant spokesmen, however, do point out that the war conditions may force local buyers to re-arrange their gift plans. It is no longer possible to just say that this or that will be purchased, first should be ascertained. It is this or that that should be obtained.

And Preview Night is just for that purpose. It is arranged for the sole purpose of giving Mr. and Mrs. Kelowna a chance to see what is available.

Junior Board Urges Full Use Of Available Xmas Decorations

Lighting Contest Off But Jay Bee Official Urges Householders to Use Available Equipment

The "Light Up For Christmas" contest, sponsored in former years by the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade, will not be in effect this year, the board feeling that under war conditions, it was not justified in urging people to spend money on exterior decorations.

However, although there will be no contest, the board urges all citizens now having lighting equipment to make full use of it during the holiday season.

"There is no doubt about it," one week, "the use of lights and other decorations on the homes during the Christmas season does improve the city. It gives an added boost to those fundamental Christmas feelings which the world needs so badly during the present crisis."

"It is perfectly true that the board does not feel that it should urge the general body of citizens to go out and purchase additional electrical equipment for this purpose but, nevertheless, there is no reason why the householders with this equipment should not make full use of it. As a matter of fact, I would suggest that they are under a certain obligation to do so. They have the equipment needed to give a little additional feeling of good-will to the city during the festive season, and it is part of their duty as good citizens to do this."

"If only those persons who decorated last year and the year before again do so, Kelowna will be well decorated for the holiday season, and the reflected light of goodwill will be sufficient to permeate the whole city. If good will and cheerfulness was ever needed, it is needed today. An effective celebration of Christmas this year will be a decided boost to the general morale."

Your Opportunity

Four weeks from today is Christmas Day and it is time you started thinking about what you are going to give to Tom, Dick and Mary. It is time, because this year the selection of gifts is going to be a little more difficult than usual. Christmas giving is always a hectic procedure for those who leave it to the last minute, but this year the methodical planners may also find their task more difficult.

C'est la guerre. It is the war which has finally caught up with Christmas. The first two war Christmases were little different from those peacetime ones which preceded them. There were plenty of gifts and new novelties helped make a wide selection of gifts. But this year the story is a little different.

The war has made demands on manufacturers and they have not been able to develop as many new lines as usual; they have found it difficult to continue to supply orders for certain other lines and war priorities have forced the complete cancellation of still other lines.

This in turn is reflected in the merchants' stocks and it is the early purchaser who is going to find satisfaction in his gifts this year. Kelowna merchants ordered early and they ordered as fine a selection of gifts as they could obtain and on Wednesday next, with pardonable pride, they are giving the people of the district an opportunity of looking over their stocks, examining them and making their selections. Making their selections but not buying them. That must come later for Wednesday night is Preview Night and the merchants' motto is: "You cannot buy, we cannot sell."

It will be Kelowna's third annual staging of this unique and original event. Three years ago the Kelowna merchants decided that they would show the people of the district that there was no reason for them to send out of Kelowna for any of their Christmas gifts. They decided that everyone should be given an opportunity to look over the stock of the local stores and examine it without embarrassment. No money can cross the counter that night so any article can be examined in the greatest detail and no compulsion to buy felt by the customer. So successful has Preview Night been here that it has become a local institution and other cities right across Canada are taking up the idea.

This year Kelowna merchants have gathered together as fine a selection of gifts as any group of merchants could gather together in wartime. They invite you to come and see what they have done for you. To add a little fun to the evening they are offering a hundred dollars in prizes to lucky coupon holders.

It is your opportunity of making your Christmas shopping easier. If you fail to take advantage of it, it will be your loss.

No Election or Plebiscite

There has been much conjecture over Mr. King's statement to the House of Commons that he would support no policy of conscription for overseas service without consulting the people. Some newspapers have gone to the length of suggesting that this statement "foreshadows" either an election or a referendum. We cannot believe that Mr. King had any such move in mind.

According to his own estimate, his Government is the bridge between Washington and London. His relations with Mr. Roosevelt are so cordial that, in his own words, he is in a specially favored position to negotiate with Washington on behalf of London. Under such circumstances it would be unthinkable for Mr. King to make conscription for overseas service the subject of either referendum or an election. We would like to believe that people in all sections of Canada would wholeheartedly endorse such a policy, but we know, and Mr. King knows, that there are sections where little public enthusiasm for such a step would be shown.

A public parade of halfheartedness in any part of Canada, any local disinclination to fight this war with everything we've got, would make matters more difficult for Mr. Roosevelt to pursue his courageous foreign policy. Moreover, it would give a great deal of comfort to Germany and Japan. Mr. King understands that this would be so, and we have, therefore, every confidence that he does not intend to play fast and loose with the fate of half the world in order to score a petty political triumph.

What Mr. King does not seem to understand is that this country is ruled by Parliament. It is not necessary to dissolve Parliament in order to effect a change in policy. The Cabinet is merely the executive committee of Parliament, and this committee can be changed without recourse to a general election. The people have entrusted their fate to their representatives in the House of Commons, subject to the restraints imposed upon the House by the Crown, the Senate and the courts of law.

An overwhelming majority of the people of this country want to win this war, and they have left Parliament to decide what means may be necessary to achieve victory in the shortest possible time. Mr. King has made certain personal pledges in the matter of conscription for overseas service. He made them at a time when no one could foresee what turn the currents of war would take. He made them before the collapse of France and before Germany had overrun Europe. No unprejudiced person would criticize him for changing his policy to meet altered conditions. But, if he feels disinclined to do so, and is satisfied that a change in policy is necessary, and has strong public support, he can always resign.

It is quite a usual thing in the British Parliament for a new Government to be formed out of the same Parliament. All that a Government needs in order to exercise ruling powers is the support of the majority of the members of the House of Commons. If Mr. King would take the whip off his party followers and take the resignations of himself and his Cabinet to the Governor-General, a new Government could be formed quite easily.

The Why

Every wage earner in every one of the Kelowna district communities should be buying War Savings Certificates regularly—at least, so we are told.

Why? What does it matter whether every individual is saving money in this way? Won't the Government get the money anyhow? Won't they impose taxes and more taxes? Why should wage earners be asked to do without some luxuries which they have long craved and now have the money to buy?

Let's consider those questions.

First, everybody should be saving because it is everybody's war. If Hitler should win and Canada should become a German possession, then every man jack of us will be working as slaves of the German overlords and the Gestapo will line objectors up against the wall and shoot them. They are doing it in other countries, can we expect better treatment?

Oh, yes, but that can never happen here! Don't be too sure about that. Who would have believed when war broke out in September, 1939, that two years later virtually every country in Europe would be under the Nazi yoke? Who would have believed that France's mighty army, "the finest in the world" we used to call it, would have been put out of action in six short weeks and that the British army would have been forced to flee the continent leaving behind it all its fighting equipment? Oh, yes, we have had victories but the cold fact remains that Hitler is still top dog in Europe and that his ally Japan is preparing to strike from Asia. We will not win until every last one of us wakes up and plays his or her part.

Despite all that has happened, there are multitudes of us who have the Maginot Line complex. We still think that Hitler cannot cross the ocean. Suppose by a mighty gas attack he were to conquer Britain, what would there be to stop him? Uncle Sam's navy could not stand up against the combined resources of Europe, Asia and Africa. President Roosevelt has told his people that.

Today our Government needs money. It will get the money, make no mistake about that. If the people will not lend voluntarily for war purposes, it will be taken from them in taxes or forced loans. If taken as taxes it will be gone for ever. If in forced loans under a plan similar to that now practised in Britain, a definite portion of each man's wages will be taken each week and given back to him at the end of the war. And that proportion will probably be a great deal more than you would save voluntarily. Far better to save voluntarily than to have your saving done for you.

About those luxuries. Which would you rather have: luxuries now and Hitler later, or help win the war and get luxuries later? Every dollar spent in luxuries hinders the war effort in three ways. It keeps men working in non-essential industries instead of at war work; materials go into luxuries which should go into war supplies; the Government has a harder job meeting its war bills.

Then there is this: The depression is not so far off we have forgotten it. Another period of unemployment is practically sure to follow this war, as war industries will be shutting down. What will you use for money then? The country may be too impoverished to pay relief. Who wants to go on relief anyway? That is where your War Savings will come in handy. They will help pull you through workless days without suffering if you have enough of them. Every man and woman who has any common sense at all will put every possible dollar into War Savings against the day that peace will come and bring with it suffering no less certain, even if less terrible than war.

Thousands of Kelowna district people are already War Savers. Each of them should increase the amount of his savings if at all possible. Thousands more who are not now War Savers should become War Savers at once. Every factory, every store, every business, every institution which pays wages should be able to report a hundred per cent of its employees on the list of regular War Savers when the present campaign closes.

Penticton's Festival

Penticton is going to have a peach festival next summer and thus the southern district did not join the rest of the Valley in having one large celebration of general interest. Kelowna has its Regatta and Vernon has its Frontier Days and on these events the summer activities of the respective towns have been focussed. And now Penticton will have a similar event.

The proposed event is of importance to the entire Valley for it is suggested that it be held during August and, if this is done, visitors from the Coast or neighboring states could spend the entire month of August in the Valley and centre their activities around the peach festival at Penticton, the Regatta at Kelowna, and the Frontier Days at Vernon. Coupled with the wide variety of summer sports and activities the Valley has to offer, these three events would present a month of activity varied enough and interesting enough to enthrall the most blasé.

The Penticton peach festival is to be based on the general idea of the Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival, excepting that it will have the fruit itself, and not the blossom, as its motif. There would seem to be room for such a festival in the southern end of the Valley and the preliminary moves seem to indicate that Penticton will put it across. There was a time when such a co-operative effort would have had little chance of succeeding in the southern municipality, but conditions there have apparently changed. This change is indicated by the fact that three or four organizations which have been staging various "days" during the summer with indifferent success have given up these activities and have fallen in behind the peach festival idea and are co-operating to make the one big event a success.

Penticton is to be congratulated upon its enterprise, and the rest of the Valley will be watching with keen interest the developments and hoping that the festival will be as successful as the town deserves.

Face and Fill

We want no election with conscription as the issue.

Gordon Debrisay, of Penticton, who is President of the B.C.F.G.A., is chuckling over this one: It seems a young doctor and a young dentist had adjoining offices and jointly employed an attractive bookkeeper. Both fell in love with her. Came the time when the dentist had to go out of town for about ten days and he was reluctant to do it as it left the field clear for the doctor. He decided perhaps a gift might help him out, so on the morning he was leaving town, he called the girl aside and told her that he was going away for ten days and did not want to go because it meant leaving her. However, he had purchased a gift for her which he hoped would make her think of him a little. She was to go into his office after he had gone and the present would be on his desk. She did and found—ten apples.

Across The Atlantic » » »

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of articles about conditions in Britain written exclusively for the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association by Hugh Tompkins, editor of the Pegasus, Ontario, News-Record. Mr. Tompkins was one of ten Canadian newspaper men who spent six weeks in Britain as the guests of the British Government. The subsequent articles will appear in this paper.

Flying across the Atlantic is pure magic. There is no other way to describe it. No modern novelist has ever told the story. It is necessary to go away back to the Arabian Nights with its magic carpets, to Icarus with his wax wings and his unsuccessful attempt to fly over a much narrower body of water, or to Pegasus with his broad wings. Clipper trips are more modern than our literature.

A writer in one popular American magazine recently tried to tell about the flight from New York to Lisbon, but he depended heavily upon photographs. He did say, though, that those who had crossed the Atlantic by Clipper belonged to the most exclusive club in the world. The membership fee was $1,000 for less than a week and one requires "pull" besides to become initiated into this society. (Officially, the term is not "pull" but "priorities.")

Perhaps there is some truth to that, but it does seem a prosaic way to speak of magic. In many ways, modern science improves on ancient fairy stories. I always had some doubts about the desirability of travelling by carpet high above the earth. The carpet was sure to be draughty. If one moved too near the edge, there was always a danger of falling off. And after all, the lady of the Arabian Nights and the other ancient story tellers knew nothing of the actual loveliness of the world far above the clouds and particularly at sunset, or the approach of a thunder storm, or when a rainbow spread itself into a full circle in front of the plane. Nothing they ever imagined could equal the beauty of that world and it is almost impossible to describe it to earthbound readers.

Meeting The Other Editors. At New York, I met five of the other editors who were to make the trip to England. Three were from Ontario and two from Montreal: B. K. Sandwell and Bishop R. J. Renison, of Toronto; Gratian O'Leary, of Ottawa; and Maynard and Leonard Shapiro, of Montreal. The last named lives much of the time in Washington and knows New York, which was lucky, for we learned that a Portuguese visa was necessary before we boarded the Clipper, and this required much running around and the payment of eight precious American dollars each to the consular Embassy before we embarked. Later, we learned just how much travellers through Portugal have to pay toward the upkeep of Dictator Salazar's government.

glass or one of the new plastics. Inside the doors, the passenger ascends by a moving stairway into a great blue dome studded with stars. (Civilians, of course, do not see the signs of the zodiac and a bronze man with wings on his back. Not until the traveller reaches the top of the stair does he see the offices of the various airways companies almost hidden around the horizon.)

When the time comes to go, large motor buses rise through the floor at the rear of the building, coming up from the deep cellars, and the trans-Atlantic passengers are hurried away by tunnels and roads to the airport.

The Dixie Clipper rides at anchor in the bay. It looks exactly like a whale with wings. The wings seem inadequate—not at all the kind or size of wings that one would expect a whale to grow if it had to fly 4,000 miles or more in the next two days. But the four big Wright motors look efficient enough to drive their three-bladed propellers indefinitely.

A Six-Roomed House With Wings

Fifty-five passengers left New York in the Dixie Clipper that day but more than half of them stayed in Bermuda. They sat around in six rooms, most of them large enough for ten persons, for the Clipper is as large as a house inside, and upstairs the eleven men of the crew sat around in another. The lightning went around us, too, sometimes just beyond the wings, but there was no sound of thunder above the roar of the motors. It was bumpy, too, and for the first time, two ladies felt sick and strapped themselves to their seats. For some others, men and women alike, it was just a new and enjoyable sensation.

At night, the steward made up the berths. That was after we had left Bermuda. There were 23 passengers then and room for them all to sleep, room which the passenger never saw.

It took 20 minutes to get the Dixie Clipper up off the water. It taxied back and forth on the way while the pilot tried the feel of the wind against the wings and manoeuvred for the longest run over the water. Once we passed three of Uncle Sam's new motor torpedo boats, each one with two machine gun turrets and four torpedo tubes. We were almost touching one of New York's marvellous bridges before we finally started down the bay at full speed. Spray flew up over the little square windows and soon the slap-slap of the waves against the bottom of the hull grew less violent and then disappeared—and the Clipper was in the air. It circled over the edge of New York twice, gaining height and then turned east over the marshes and swamps and then the broad Atlantic. Two ships were nearing the coast. After that, nothing but waves and clouds in every direction.

Wonderland Above The Clouds

Flying the Atlantic, as I said before, is pure magic. One does not realize it at first. Flying was not a new sensation for me. I had been doing it for 20 years in planes large and small, but never for more than a few hours at a time. This was different. I sat on a sofa

Kelowna In Bygone Days

(From the files of the Kelowna Courier)

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, November 23, 1911

"Much to the joy of pedestrians, the City Council avowed this week to the necessity of street crossings, which have been laid down with small rock and greatly improve the chances of crossing without leaving one's rubbers in the mud."

"The Fire Brigade have opened their gymnasium in the old school, and a very complete outfit of apparatus is at the disposal of members. The benefits of such an institution are very great, and the town owes a debt of gratitude to the Brigade for undertaking it. The gymnasium will be open to all who purchase membership tickets every night except Sunday and Tuesday, from 7.30 to 11.00 p.m."

Election of officers at the annual meeting of the Curling Club resulted in choice of the following: President, S. T. Elliott; Vice-President, C. Hoy; Secretary, F. W. Fraser; Executive Committee, P. Dumoulin, H. Johnston, R. A. Copeland, J. M. Harvey, B. McDonald.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, November 24, 1921

"Little over a week ago chrysanthemums were still blooming in local gardens and the weather was of the usual mild fall type which Kelownians take as a matter of course, but all of a sudden old Boreas got busy, disintegrated his cheeks and blew an icy blast from the North and presto! the scene was changed and within a few hours an appropriate setting for Santa Claus himself was provided. The temperature began to fall on Wednesday night of last week and it gradually grew colder on Thursday under the influence of north wind, taking a decided drop at night. Friday, Saturday and Sunday were very cold days; with minimum temperatures only a few degrees above zero, and then on Monday it snowed just to show what the Clerk of the Weather can do in a dry country. By Tuesday morning a depth of nearly six inches lay on the ground and still remains, although thawing considerably today."

Kelowna High School won a cup donated by a football enthusiast in Vernon for competition between Okanagan Valley High Schools. The final game, played with Vernon, was a hard-fought one, and it was only in its closing minutes that Kelowna scored the winning goal.

On Saturday, November 19th, N. D. McTavish, Secretary of the Kelowna Board of Trade, forwarded to the Central Relief Fund in Vancouver the splendid sum of $1,061 subscribed by the people of the Kelowna district for assistance to sufferers by recent disastrous floods at Britannia, Coquitlam and other places at the Coast.

TEN YEARS AGO

Thursday, November 26, 1931

"The cold weather during the past week formed many excellent sheets of ice in the city and district for skating, and this popular winter sport is being enjoyed by enthusiasts."

"The executives of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association and of the Independent Growers' Association, George Haggie, M.L.A., of Vernon and several prominent growers met in Kelowna on Tuesday to discuss further the proposed organization of one large growers' body. D. Godfrey Isaacs, of Oryama, who has drawn up a constitution designed to meet the needs of such an organization, also attended the gathering. It was decided to hold a meeting in Vernon in the near future, when Mr. Godfrey Isaacs will be given an opportunity to explain the text of the constitution."

At the annual meeting of the Kelowna and District Horticultural Society, held on November 24th, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, B. Hoy; Secretary, P. T. Dunn; Committee, Mrs. F. Thorneley, Mrs. G. Royce, Mrs. B. McDonald, Capt. G. H. Taylor, W. J. Palmer, T. O. Hemming, G. Balsillie, Auditor, H. W. Arbuckle. The financial statement showed a cash balance of $82.40 on hand. The report of the retiring President, R. L. Dalglish, revealed that, in spite of the difficult times, there had been a greater number of entries and better shows and garden competitions in 1931 than in any previous year.

Former residents of the Ottawa Valley to the number of thirty-eight held a reunion banquet at the Royal Anne Hotel on Nov. 21st, under the chairmanship of Dr. G. L. Campbell, in the unavoidable absence of K. MacLaren, President of the organization, through illness. The menu consisted largely of dainties esteemed in the Ottawa region, and the proceedings were enlivened by musical selections and community singing. Revelstoke was selected as the locale of the 1932 reunion, which was scheduled to take place in July on the top of Mount Revelstoke, and the following officers were elected: President, J. J. Horn, Revelstoke; Vice-President, Dr. G. L. Campbell, Kelowna; Secretary, K. MacLaren, Revelstoke; Executive, T. K. Smith, Armstrong; F. B. Coslett, Vernon; G. M. deRenzy, Penticton.

GETTING OUT THIS PAPER is no picnic . . . If we print jokes, people say we are silly; if we don't they say we are too serious. . . . SAMUEL JOHNSON'S OBSERVATION that a "cow is a very good animal in the field, but we turn her out of the garden," has the aphoristic point of a place for everything, and everything in its place. Not so hured to a cow's appearance and habits was a young London slums evacuee, whose first acquaintance with a bossy brought forth a priceless essay on her. . . . "The cow is a mammal," wrote the ten-year-old, "It has six sides, right and left and upper and lower. At the back it has a tail on which hangs a brush. With this he sends flies away so they don't fall in the milk. The head is for the purpose of growing horns and so his mouth can be somewhere. The horns are to butt with and the mouth to moo with. Under the cow hangs milk. It is arranged for milking." . . . The confusion over gender does not spoil the sharpness of description. Here is answered, for all time, the why of a cow for milking. Everything else is subordinate to that function, and yet a necessary complement thereto. . . . Young Mr. Londoner's objective effort, as fresh as the English grass that feeds bossy, is likewise as sweet. His amazing experience compelled him to tell of the marvel, perhaps for the instruction of contemporaries still in London's East End. More cosmopolitan dwellers of a chaotic world are indebted to him. He has enriched their awareness of childhood's beauty. . . .

WOMEN, LEGEND STATES, forgive the man who beats them, but never forgive the man who fails to hold the door open for them. This is profound wisdom. It is the minor things that are unbinding, not the major calamities. The destructive force of a hurricane is accepted as inevitable, and measures are taken to lessen the destructiveness. The dripping faucet is merely a nuisance. Curiously, no move is made to eradicate the nuisances, analogous to the dripping tap. There is much talk and some anger. But there is largely inertia. Someone, so the argument seemingly runs, will do something about those lesser mishaps some day. No one ever does anything about them, as a matter of fact. Consequently, the days are made hideous by the uncivil blowing of horns by impatient motorists whose automobile philosophy is a compound of haste and bad manners. The nights are made raucous by youthful exhibitionists who prefer to think that downtown streets are the proper place for their celebrations and their shoutings. It is of no interest to them that their din may disturb a theatre audience, a concert audience, or a sober gathering of folk intent upon hearing a speaker. And then there is the nightly postwar clatter made by the dog as he endeavors to get into your garbage tin and the bang, bang which nightly announces he has succeeded in getting the weight off the lid and that the garbage is now being scattered over a wide area of ground. The business of suppressing such indecorous shenanigans is gingerly sidestepped. The racket, like the weather of Mark Twain's sally, is mentioned frequently, but nothing is done about it. . . . but something is going to be done about that dog. . . .

IT IS HARD TO BELIEVE that four weeks from today is Christmas Day. It makes one think that genial old Santa Claus must be wondering what is the matter with the world and its people. For the third successive year he has left his happy northern home on a tour of inspection, preliminary to his Christmas journeying, only to find most of the nations embroiled in war or apprehensive of hostilities. Surely he regards this as a strange preparation for the season of peace and goodwill with which he has been so long associated. Stranger still must it be to find the people of Germany, a country which once outdid all others in observance of the Noel festival, the aggressors in a "total war" and all the term has come to mean: disregard of the old amenities of life, practising brutality and bestialities that horrify decent people. It must be difficult even for Santa Claus to be merry in such circumstances. But he has been fitting about the world for a long time and has witnessed in many lands terrible conditions that reflect on the sanity of the human race. Still, he knows there remain kind, well-behaved people and millions of children, who still greet him with an enthusiasm that the selfishness and ambition of wicked men cannot dampen. He knows also that hosts of good people will help him in seeing that the most fortunate of these children receive gifts on Christmas morning, and that for the day they will be happy. Santa Claus has a genius for overcoming obstacles. In some way he breaks the barriers that keep kindness out of the human heart; knows how to soften the hard heart. . . . And on Wednesday night next he will be visiting the Kelowna stores to have a look to see what the Kelowna merchants have made available for the gift seekers this year. He will find that the Kelowna merchants have good taste. . . .

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN many years the continent is without a dance craze. The jitterbugs have just about jittered themselves out; the rumba is still too closely linked with private lessons, and the person who merely tries to get a little enjoyment out of the foxtrots is immediately tagged as a has-been. . . . In some quarters this may be considered a national calamity, but when one recalls the frenzied days of the Charleston, Black Bottom and the Big Apple, the present outlook is not so gloomy. And, anyway, it's only a breathing spell. Almost any day now the youngsters may be expected to break into a new variation intended to jeopardize the physical safety of all those within striking distance and go their merry way regardless of the minor point that there are other people on the dance floor. Whatever the new dance is, one thing is certain, it will make middle-aged party followers feel fifteen or twenty years older. Even now youth is experimenting with a 1941 square dance that would cause grandpa to swoon if he gazed upon it. The younger generation, has little regard for tradition, although thus far it has not sought to modernize the minuet. . . .

I READ SOMEWHERE the other day a bit I thought was right to the point. The writer wondered whether F.D.R. or J.L.L. was President of the United States. The same thing applies in this country. Is it the unions or the Dominion Government which is running Canada. Unions at one time had my sympathy, but the way they have been acting lately turns me slightly sick at the stomach. It seems to me the weakest part of the King Government is its labor policy. I have no sympathy or patience with gangsters who will organize strikes in wartime. . . .

KELOWNA MEN GET COURIER

Complete List of Men in Fighting Services Who Receive Home Town Newspaper

During recent weeks there have been so many inquiries as to whether this soldier or that airman is receiving his home town newspaper, The Kelowna Courier, regularly, that we have decided to publish the entire list of subscribers in the fighting services.

The following list comprises those Kelowna and district men who are receiving The Courier regularly. They may have subscribed themselves; they may be receiving it from the G.I. Club, or they may have been sent it by some relative or kind friend.

The regular subscription price of The Courier is $2.50 a year, but the paper is sent to any man on active service for just half price to cover the cost of mailing. The price to Army, Navy and Air Force men, therefore, is one dollar and a quarter for a whole year.

Look over the list and see if the men you are interested in are receiving the paper. There is no argument about it, the home town paper is one of the most useful things you can send to the men on active service. There have been plenty of letters to prove that!

If you decide that there is some one to whom you would like to bring a little cheer fifty-two weeks of the year, send his name and address together with your own name and address and one dollar and a quarter, and The Courier will be sent your friend that you are sending him the paper each week for fifty-two weeks. It will be his most prized gift.

Hello, Mury! How are you this morning? ... That's good. I just called up to ask you if you had decided what you were going to buy Tom for Christmas. Remember, you asked me for suggestions? Is he there? ... Oh, he's out? Then you can talk in peace, eh? ... If you haven't made up your mind about Tom, I would suggest that you look at the new, snappy Forsyth shirts that McKie's have on display now. Shirts are something a man can always use, and Tom is such a snappy dresser that I am sure that one of the new colors would appeal to him. ... Yes, I think it would be a good idea to look them over. Has he an electric razor? He hasn't. Well, if you don't decide on the shirts, have a look at the Hand razor. Willis have. Bill had one home trying it a couple of weeks ago and he sure liked it. He says it is the best electric razor he has ever used, and it looks as though he will buy one. If you don't like the Hand razor, I have a couple of weeks ago and he sure liked it. Kelowna the opportunity of seeing the "threes" and the "thats" which the wide-awake Kelowna merchants have in stock.

Fifty local merchants are participating in the Preview arrangements and will have their stores arrayed in their most festive attire for the occasion with a full staff of clerks on hand to welcome the visitors and explain the fine points of the merchandise to the potential Christmas shoppers. Special arrangements have been made by the merchants with the board of industrial relations for permission to keep their stores open the extra two hours.

It is the boast of the Kelowna merchants that they can supply merchandise at prices that compare with those of any mail order house and at equal the quality, and their aim on Wednesday, December 3, is to prove the truth of that assertion to one and all in the Kelowna district.

In addition to the opportunity of seeing the special displays of Christmas merchandise which will make one's Christmas list a pleasure instead of a chore, there will be afforded to everyone an opportunity to share in the merchandise prizes, total value $100, which will be given away to holders of lucky coupons. In this issue of The Courier there is a coupon which should be clipped out and deposited on Preview Night at any preview of participating stores.

Special containers are being provided in every store for the deposit of these coupons. On the following night, Thursday, December 4, at the Empress Theatre, the big prize drawing will take place. The coupons will be drawn from one box and at the same time other coupons will be drawn from a second box holding the names of the city merchants taking part in Preview night. The winners whose names are drawn will be required to take their vouchers to the special stores designated by the drawing where they will collect their merchandise prizes.

The first prize has a value of $20 and there will be six other prizes of ten dollars each and four additional prizes of five dollars, totalling $100.

the first wedding gift was a Philco radio from the Kelowna Electric. No, I haven't heard the date. I guess it isn't set yet. ... Well, I must hang up. I must go down town and get some baking supplies at the Safeway. No, I haven't it all done yet. I must make some cookies and pies. I don't make candy after all. Why do that when you can get such good boxes of candies at McKie's? I must order some Christmas fruit at Gordon's, too. And I must go to the Modern Electric and look over the table lamps. By that time I will be ready for tea at Chapin's. ... Oh, yes, I have another call to make today. I must go to Sheriffs and have a look at their novelties. Need a few for Christmas. ... Oh, I am giving Jane a permanent wave gift certificate from the Charm Beauty Salon. It's for her birthday. You know, it's the devil when birthdays come so close to Christmas. ... Bill is going to be late tonight, so I need not hurry home to get supper ready. He said he was going to look into the Kelowna Furniture Company where they are preparing for their forty-ninth Christmas season. That's a long time here, isn't it? They must have started before the town was incorporated. Bill said he was going to look over the Jack look over the Hardie sprayers at the Orchard City Motors. Jack needs a new sprayer, he says. I'll bet he comes home and forgets to get the Orange Pekoe tea at Capozzi's. ... Well, I must simply run. There's Mr. Gore with my laundry at the door. They do a good job, don't they? It is such a help. Well, I'll be seeing you Preview night.

RUTLAND Y.P.C. START MEETINGS

The first meeting of the season of the Rutland Young People's Club was held in the Rutland Community Hall on Friday, November 21st. It was scheduled to be a business meeting, but owing to the small attendance, the election of officers was postponed until the next meeting, which will be held on Friday, December 5th.

The meeting discussed at some length the advisability of changing the night of the meetings and the club dues. It was finally decided that Friday was the most suitable day and the fees discussion was postponed until the next meeting. The balance of the evening was spent in dancing, followed by refreshments.

Harold Dore, of Osoyoos, was in Kelowna this week to attend the Pettman-Ityan wedding on Wednesday evening.

RICHARD CORNISH DIED HERE NOV. 23

Richard Cornish, retired, passed away at the Kelowna General Hospital, on Sunday, November 23 after a short illness.

The deceased came to the Okanagan some 12 years ago and resided with his family on the Vernon Road until he moved to Rutland, and shortly before his death, to Kelowna.

Richard Cornish was born in Cornwall, Ontario, on May 5, 1855, and is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Lovitt, residing in Provost, Alberta.

Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday last by Reverend D. Harry of the Bethel Baptist Church from Day's Funeral Parlors.

Mrs. G. H. Clements and son, of Vancouver, are guests of the Royal Anne Hotel this week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Wilson, of Ashcroft, were visitors in town this week.

M. E. De Laurier, of Vernon, was a visitor in Kelowna this week.

RED CROSS PLANS
MEMBERSHIP APPEAL

Owing to the fact that the Kelowna Red Cross Society has made no direct appeal for funds during the past two years but has been included in the campaigns conducted by "War Activities Committees" and "War Services Funds," many members in the society have lapsed. Mrs. L. R. Stephens, local secretary, states that the society feels that its strength lies in a large and strong membership and an appeal will shortly be made by the society to past members to revive their membership in the Canadian Red Cross Society.

The Kelowna branch will make its appeal this week through the mails to former members to renew their membership for 1942, and the membership fee of one dollar can be sent by mail to Canadian Red Cross Society, Kelowna, handed personally to the secretary, at Room 8, 221 Bernard Avenue, or left at the work rooms, at 223 Bernard Avenue, Kelowna.

Voters Who Failed To Vote in Last Election To Be Struck Off List Unless Reinstated Says Registrar

Because of failure to exercise their franchise in the last election, approximately 2,000 voters in South Okanagan riding are in danger of being struck off the provincial voters' list, Dr. C. W. Dickson, Registrar of Voters in South Okanagan, stated when interviewed this week. Starting this week, explained the Registrar, reinstatement forms will be mailed to every voter in the riding who did not use his or her franchise in the election.

All who fail to sign and return the forms will be struck off the voters' list and will be ineligible to cast ballots in any provincial poll until they are re-registered, he said. Only about 15 per cent of the 6,571 voters in South Okanagan sent in reinstatement forms after the 1937 election, Dr. Dickson recalled. This percentage should be increased this time, however, as the voters will not have to fill out the extensive declaration then required and have it sworn to before being reinstated. The form now used is postcard size and is simply signed by the voter and returned forthwith.

The Registrar's figures show that approximately 37 per cent of the South Okanagan voters failed to use their ballots in the last election. The striking-off penalty facing non-voters was incorporated into the B. C. Elections Act in 1917.

British Columbia is believed to be the only province or state in the world using a penalty of this type, according to G. M. Phillips, Registrar General of Voters.

Cost of postage alone to the Provincial Government for delivery of the reinstatement forms will be close to $4,000, as the notices and forms are sent by first-class mail to ensure return on non-delivery.

Although the procedure may seem cumbersome, Dr. Dickson pointed out that, besides penalizing non-voters, it has the additional advantage of purging the voters' list of citizens who have moved away or have died.

AFGHANS MADE BY
C.N.R. WOMEN

Women Employees Use Spare Time To Knit For Britain

"Afghans for Britain" is the slogan adopted by women employees in the head office of the Canadian National Railways, in deciding to utilize their spare time and odd scraps of wool in knitting six-inch squares. These will be collected and sewn together into afghans, which will be turned over to the C.N.R. Employees' War Services Association, by whom they will be dispatched to Great Britain.

"This is a practical undertaking," said E. B. Harkness, President of the Association, "and is an effort which no doubt will spread. With the winter fast approaching, bringing with it added hazards of war, all types of blankets and warm coverings are appreciated."

The Vikings and Saxons considered the raven a sacred bird and adorned their helmets with its wings.

FEEDING
BRITAIN IN WARTIME

(Monthly Review of the Bank of Nova Scotia, October-November, 1941)

"The task of feeding 48 million people whom a ruthless enemy has determined to starve"—the job of the British Ministry of Food—is the subject of the Monthly Review of the Bank of Nova Scotia for October-November.

The story of the British food situation and of food policy in this war is one which concerns a sort of wartime economics which has recently become of much more practical interest on this side of the Atlantic. It illustrates the methods of control over civilian consumption goods, especially the use of price fixing and rationing. But, because food is not ordinary goods, it does more than this. The Food Ministry, in the words of the British Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry, "is dealing with a very sensitive part of the human anatomy. You may put off buying a new suit or dress, but to put off taking food is not possible for any length of time."

The food situation has never been desperate in history. Britons have been hungry. There has been since the middle of 1940, however, a gradual increasing restriction of supplies both in the basic foods other than bread, and in supplementary foodstuffs. In general, experts in Britain have not been worried about the total food consumption of the British people, but have expressed concern about the shortage of animal products caused by the war, the consumption of meat, cheese and eggs. The Minister of Health, in his recent speeches on this continent, stated that his greatest worry is the shortage of meat and cheese for workers in his own industries and for growing children.

These needed "animal protein" foods are the ones which Britain is now getting increasingly from North America. Australia and New Zealand have not been able to ship as much over the long Pacific route, because of the shipping shortage, and it has fallen to Canada and the United States to ship much more. Already, the increased shipping has had a measurable effect on British rations and, if the Battle of the Atlantic continues to go in Britain's favor, the outlook is for a material improvement in the British food situation. One of the reasons is that the United States has now joined Canada in an all-out effort to increase food production for Britain. Provision of these larger food supplies depends on how much production can be increased, and perhaps also upon the willingness of people on this continent to limit their own consumption of certain products, as Canadians have already done by cutting down consumption of pork and beef.

Controls do not necessarily mean war-time privation. On the contrary, they are designed to see that the individual gets his rightful share of supplies, without being subjected to contracting or expanding. The reason for rationing and price control is that shortages bring rising prices, and rising prices are not an equitable way of distributing a smaller supply. The situation in the past year and a half illustrates the way in which shortages tend to spread and hence controls to widen.

This process is revealed in a brief summary of food policy since the war began. Before imported and domestic supplies suffered much restriction, rising food prices reflected chiefly increased costs rather than economic shortage, price controls had been instituted mainly to facilitate distribution of those commodities for which the Ministry of Food had become the central purchaser, and rationing had been begun rather to prevent a running-down of stocks than to take over shortages.

After the middle of 1940, general shortages in relation to demand gradually became the rule rather than the exception. Rations were extended from bacon, butter, meats and sugar to tea, margarine and cooking fats in the autumn of 1940, and to jams, cheese, eggs and finally milk, during the course of 1941. Several reductions in ration levels were made, and controls of unrationed foods became necessary. A landmark was the institution of a general standstill price order in January, 1941, for a long list of hitherto uncontrolled foods, which has been gradually superseded by a series of specific maximum price orders. Other highlights were the appointment early this summer of a general controller of unrationed foods and the decision to assume control of fish—long delayed because of the peculiar difficulty in-

THE GIFT OF GRASS

(H.M. in the Winnipeg Free Press)

Our admiration is mixed with awe as we contemplate Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts taking thought from his heavy tasks to choose a suitable present to give the President of the United States.

Of the numerous selections Marshal Smuts might make, the one he chose was surely the last that would occur to us. He selected sixteen packages of grass seed, and commissioned a special correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune, then interviewing him at Pretoria, to convey them as a personal gift from Marshal Smuts to President Roosevelt.

Only those intimate with Marshal Smuts can appreciate the suitability he would see in choosing something so different from the good earth rather than in selecting some precious bauble. His activities in many fields of thought and action have been unable to wither his life-long interest in botany.

Though every Sunday morning that he is free he climbs Table Mountain to see what new flowers have bloomed, the cultivation of grasses has long appealed to him as the most worthy of attention in a country in which millions of acres have been denuded and have become sandy and dry wastes. To replenish these areas, he has sought a grass which will take root and grow where either shifting sands or ceaseless winds have killed all grazing. The grass suitable to do this was found by the Smuts African Botanical Expedition only four years ago.

The philosopher-soldier-statesman reasoned that what this new-found grass could do for the waste areas in South Africa could be done by it for the wasted areas in the United States. He knows all the stark story of the aridity of former grassy regions in South Africa and has heard about the sterility of the dust bowl areas in the United States. To him, there was only one choice of a gift he could make personally to President Roosevelt. If this grass seed involved in obtaining control of supplies. Rationing and limitation of prices for particular commodities has been difficult without control of supplies and distribution. Where there is any delay in the delivery of goods at other than the fixed prices, or where transportation charges were an important factor, the commodity has sometimes tended to disappear from the market. The remedies have lain in the completeness of price controls and in attempts to assure—by regulation and order—that supplies be disposed of where control of distribution could be assumed.

SIX persons will have a wonderful bread pudding treat when you serve the dessert made from this week's recipe. You'll find the cocoa gives this type of pudding an entirely 'new' taste.

Mocha Bread Pudding (Serves 6):
1 pint milk, 1-3 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1/4 cup raisins, 16 slices white bread, 1/2 cup Fry's Cocoa.

Cut white bread in half inch slices. Remove the crust and butter well. Cut in fours to make squares. Arrange these neatly so as to line a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with raisins; add another row of buttered bread. Sprinkle with cocoa. Mix cocoa and sugar together dry and add mixture to hot milk. Beat eggs and add slowly to the cocoa milk. Strain through a fine sieve, pour over bread, add the vanilla. Place in oven 400 degrees until the custard is set.

If you enclose 10c you will receive the latest Fry Illustrated Recipe Booklet, "Chocolate Around the Clock." It's packed with scores of easy to follow recipes for making new, delicious, chocolate-flavored desserts and beverages. Address: Jehane Patenaude, Fry-Cadbury Ltd., Montreal.

WHY "DOSE" CONSTIPATION?

There's a "Better Way"
Than Harsh Purgatives!

LONDON, Canada: "Dosing" constipation brings only temporary relief, at best. If yours is the common type, due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet, try correcting it instead. Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day! This crisp, delicious cereal (it's good in muffins, too) supplies the proper "bulk" to help keep your regular. ALL-BRAN doesn't work like purgatives. It takes time. Eat ALL-BRAN every morning, drink plenty of water and see if you don't look and feel worlds better! At your grocer's, in two convenient sizes. Or in individual serving packages at restaurants. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

with two others. One was a young American girl who had saved her money for a luxury holiday in Bermuda; the other a Detroit newspaper man returning to Europe. The plane was heated and air-conditioned. Even the wall covering added to the feeling of luxury, for it was a tapestry with maps of the continents and oceans. Dinner consisted of consommé, chicken salad, ice cream and coffee.

All these things were made-made attempts at comfort. The real magic was outside the windows. Every time I looked out, the long, slender, pointed wing was still there with its two whirling propellers. Far down below us were the clouds, for we flew at 6,000 feet, where the air is still and there are few bumps. It was fortunate that we had clouds all the way across. The Atlantic, seen from that height, grows desperately monotonous when the air is clear, but clouds are always changing shape and color. The sun set behind a distant row of thick clouds which looked like a far-off mountain range. A long path of yellow light stretched over the whiteness of the nearby clouds. They looked like masses of spun sugar candy. As the sun dropped away, the sky flamed with color. In three-quarters of the dome of heaven it was already night, but in the west the full range of the spectrum stretched across the sky, brilliant red at the horizon, going up through the yellows and the blues to the deep indigo of night overhead, with a few stars already brightly shining.

Lightning Around the Wings

Nearing Portugal, we met a high thunderstorm. This time, the Clipper seemed unable to rise above it. The clouds were close around and often we were in them, like a thick fog. I had one of the worst sleep-ups close to the wing and number three and four engines—but the bed was comfortable and there was a rhythm to the noise that was soothing, so I slept well. Outside the window there was a tiny sliver of new moon and the very bright stars.

"Magic" Doesn't Always Work

Flying the Atlantic is magic, but sometimes in the hands of hard-headed Americans the magic goes wrong. We should have left New York on Tuesday morning and have been in Lisbon on Wednesday night. But number four engine wasn't behaving too well even before we left New York. Out of Bermuda six hours, the Clipper turned back because of bad weather ahead. On the second try, we reached the Azores but, after landing there for more gasoline, the ailing engine died as we were opposite the last islands of the group and we turned back to Horta, where the Atlantic Clipper came along and picked us up, taking us the rest of the way. Even food ran short at last before we dropped down out of the darkness on to the Tagus River at Lisbon on Friday night. We had been 47 hours in the air instead of the usual 23, and had done some 2,500 extra miles of flying.

And the next morning we were in the air again, this time headed for England.

The star Arcturus, one of the brightest in the northern heavens, has an estimated diameter of 48,000,000 miles.

Sixty-two per cent of the total of 46,829 fires in Canada in 1940 were started by causes which could have been prevented.

The Penitence Herald comments on Mr. Pattullo's statement with reference to coalition as follows:

"The Premier's comment that there was no mandate for coalition of any sort is pure balderdash. Rarely have the leaders of any province or state broken more nearly equal in results affecting the parties offering themselves. It was a clear-cut suggestion of compromise government. To carry the argument to its logical answer, moreover, there was certainly no mandate given Mr. Pattullo to form an administration in which he, in Mussolini-styled dictatorship, could declare that he would meet the Legislature holding every portfolio by himself if need be.

"Rightly or wrongly, the great mass of the people of this province regard Mr. Pattullo's recent antics as those of a stubborn, self-willed egotist. When tempered with wisdom, these are qualities that make for leadership. But in excess they lead to buffoonery. The Premier no doubt regards himself as a courageous lion. The sad truth, however, is that he is behaving much more like an insensately charging hippopotamus, wounded to the death. At any rate, there is about as much subtlety as the latter would suggest.

"But even among Mr. Pattullo's bitterest enemies there can be no pleasure at this spectacle. Those experienced in government affairs know well that his abilities were remarkable. It is the old story of character not equalling capacity. And, frequent as it is, it remains the saddest story of political effort.

"You may recall The Semin-

Weekly Papers Generally Oppose Pattullo Stand

B.C. Weeklies Comment on Mr. Pattullo's Government-Along Plan

The apparent political impasse that faces Premier Pattullo's Liberal government at the coming session of the Legislature and the political events of the past two weeks, highlighted by the resignations of five cabinet ministers, have resulted in extensive and critical editorial comment by the weekly newspapers of the province. Not one of the weeklies received by The Courier supports Mr. Pattullo's "rump cabinet."

The Comox District Free Press states:

"Political administration in British Columbia reads to a low level during the past week. In the most critical period of our history (and it is just that, whether our politicians realize it or not) our Premier, Mr. T. D. Pattullo, has chosen to play his role of dictator. Against the advice of his colleagues and contrary to the wishes of the people, he has decided to form a government which he knows cannot stand. By his actions he has alienated the services of two of his most able and trusted ministers and at the time of writing appears to be stubbornly determined to carry on.

"Mr. Pattullo is making a fool of himself and a mockery of constitutional government. As just censure for such a display of selfish personal ambition, it would now appear timely for the Lieutenant-Governor to exercise his power as the representative of the Crown and either knock some sense into the Premier's head or dismiss him from office.

The Salmon Arm Observer lays the blame at the feet of the Liberal machine in an effort to explain the Premier's stand when it comments: "Those who handled the Liberal campaign during the last election had nothing to be proud of. They were too cocksure of success, but for some reason where they were heading. The result is a disappointment to everyone and may lead to the complete destruction of Liberalism at the next election. It will certainly see the defeat of many Liberal candidates.

"We much regret the attitude of Premier Pattullo. During his many years of political life (and they have not been peaceful ones) he has given splendid service to the province. He had quite a mastery of details and in each Cabinet position he occupied he was proficient. Of the province itself he was intimate and familiar, but for some reason or other, in recent years he appears not to have checked up closely on the attitude of the people, or he was poorly advised. We think the latter is the most likely explanation."

The Kamloops Sentinel calls for Mr. Pattullo's retirement when it says:

"Premier T. D. Pattullo learns the hard way, and British Columbia suffers. Each day of this week another of his cabinet ministers has left his side. Each day the storm against Mr. Pattullo's attempt to impose his will upon the people of the province grows in strength and fury. And still Mr. Pattullo stubbornly holds to his chosen path. There is little that Mr. Pattullo can save from the wreckage.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

Buck it up right now! Give your liver a million! Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, allows proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order, it decomposes in your intestines. You can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headache, backache, dizziness, dragged out all the time. For over 15 years thousands have won prompt relief from these troubles—Fruit-A-Tives. RUSSIAN RELIEF APPEAL MADE

The Department of National War Services feels that the time has arrived when the Canadian people would like to express their practical appreciation of the splendid resistance being put up by the armies and people of Russia.

Canadians may contribute to a fund to be used for war services work in Russia and a quota of $500,000 has been set as the amount to be raised in Canada to assist our allies in the fight for freedom.

The Canadian Red Cross Society has been requested by the government to make this appeal for funds and every cent collected for it will be used for the purpose of Russian relief and no amount is allowed for expenses.

There will be no house-to-house or personal canvass in regard to the collection of the fund so as not to interfere with drives for funds already in progress or planned for the future.

All donations should be earmarked "Russian Relief," and the society urges quick action as the winter months will bring great privation and suffering to the Russian people, whose brave struggle against great odds is contributing materially to the inevitable defeat of Hitler.

Donations may be sent to the Kelowna branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, handed to the secretary at Room 8, 221 Bernard Avenue, or left with Mrs. Collett, at the Red Cross work rooms on Bernard Avenue.

age except his self-respect. To do that, he must soon bow to the wishes of the people and of his own colleagues."

The Comox Argus sums up the general reaction by saying:

"The Premier was probably counting on the universal distaste for another election to keep him in office, but he can hardly have that hope now so many of his old colleagues have gone over to the idea of a coalition government.

"Very little has been heard from the other party to the coalition—the Conservatives. But, with such a strong trend of public opinion for a stable government under coalition, it is hardly likely that when the offer is made them they will refuse.

"In fact, if Duff would only change his mind, the plan would be adopted unanimously."

PRETTY WEDDING AT CENTRE

Hannah Lucy Venables Becomes Bride of F. W. Parker—Groom Member of R.C.O.C.

St. Margaret's Church, decorated with chrysanthemums and Michaelmas daisies, was the scene of a charming wedding on Thursday afternoon, November 20th, when Rev. H. Lett, assisted by Rev. A. V. Despard, read the marriage service uniting Hannah Lucy Venables, daughter of Mrs. W. H. Thompson and the late Russell Venables, to Frank W. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Parker, of Okanagan Centre.

The bride, on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Peter Venables, and attended by Mrs. F. Wentworth, was groomed in street length dusky tulle with long sleeves, the fitted bodice, which buttoned down the back and the front to the waistline, featured a sweetheart neckline while the full skirt ended in a long, graceful train. The bride veil of silk net was held in place by a satin halo, trimmed with seed pearls. She wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom, and carried a lovely shower bouquet of deep red Peaseless roses, smilax and lily.

The two attendants chose similar gowns of sheer with shirred bodices, long full sleeves, the neckline and cuffs outlined with rhinestones, and the full skirts softly draped. Miss Gerrybuck, the bride's sister, and her only bridesmaid, chose shell pink, while Mrs. K. Griffith, the matron of honor, was in orchid. Their sweetheart hats, of the same shades as their gowns, were made of tulle and completed their charming ensembles which were further offset by bridal bouquets of deep pink carnations and plumosa fern tied with pink lily.

Mr. Howard Ryan, of Vancouver, the bride's brother, was the groomsmen, while the ushers were: Pte. E. Ryan, Canadian Dental Corps, Victoria, Wm. Longley, R. P. Walrod and Jack Brechin, of Kamloops.

During the signing of the register, Mr. R. P. Walrod sang "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Kay McKersow at the organ.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Willow Inn, where the bride party was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. H. Ryan, who was smart in an orchid sheer gown offset by a black velvet picture hat with an orchid colored ostrich feather. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother, Mrs. A. Gibb, chose a sky blue sheer gown, with which she wore a navy hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

Presiding at the urns were: Mrs. G. L. Dore, Mrs. J. Galbraith, Mrs. T. Treadgold and Mrs. W. S. King, while the servers included the Misses Eleanor Palmer, Jean Rowcliffe, Thelma Reid, Marie Olson, Jennie Reid, Rosemary King, Mrs. Harold Johnston, Mrs. George McKay, Mrs. Cyril Weeks, Mrs. W. Longley, Mrs. Roy Longley, Mrs. Jack Brechin, of Kamloops, Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. R. P. Walrod and Mrs. Don Loane.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. D. Chapman, to which the groom responded, while Pte. Eugene Ryan gave the toast to the attendants.

For travelling, the bride chose a bronze colored broad silk frock with gold necklace and bracelet, while her accessories were in tone. She wore a top coat of black, mink trimmed, with hat to match, and a corsage of yellow roses.

After a honeymoon spent in Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Pettman will reside in Kelowna on Lake Avenue.

After the reception, the wedding guests were entertained at a dance in the Willow Lodge.

BOYSCOUT COLUMN

1st Kelowna Troop
Troop First
Self Last!

Orders for week commencing Friday, November 26th, 1941:

Duties: Orderly Patrol for week,
Lynx; next for duty, Cougars.
Rallies: The Troop will rally at the Scout Hall on Tuesday, December 2nd, at 7.15 p.m.

The Troop would like to extend its heartfelt congratulations and best wishes to its last Scoutmaster, Mr.
Harold A. Pettman, who on Wednesday of the current week is to join the ranks of the benedict. Mr. Pet-tman came right up through the Troop from Scout to Assistant Scoutmaster and on the 17th of December, 1934, was appointed the Troop's fifth Scoutmaster, succeeding Mr. James B. Laidlaw. Since September of last year his time has not permitted him to carry on, but the Troop will always remember with gratitude his many years of painstaking work with them. They intend to show their appreciation by providing a Guard of Honor at the wedding ceremony on Wednesday, and have also presented him with an inscribed chime clock.

Those Scouts who have been receiving the benefit of Scoutmaster
A. W. Gray's lectures on map reading, with a view to obtaining their Pathfinder's badge and passing their First Class Map Reading test, have been asked to prepare and submit their required maps in that connection within three weeks from the 18th of this month, so they will have to get busy.

PEACHLAND ENTERTAINS LEGIONS

Penticton And Summerland
Branches Visit Peachland—
B. C. F. G. A. Selects Delegates

Old acquaintances and memories of the last conflict were reviewed at Peachland on Thursday evening, November 20, when members of the Penticton and Summerland branches of the Canadian Legion visited the Peachland branch. Cards and "house-housie" were played, the proceeds from the latter boosting the funds considerably, while songs, stories and musical numbers made the evening a most enjoyable one for those who attended.

After the supper the President,
V. Milner-Jones, thanked the visitors from Penticton and Summerland for their help and comradeship in making the visit, and expressed the opinion that these visits should be made at least twice a year. This would tend to strengthen the ranks and help to hold the fort until the lads came back from the front. He also stated that they would be expected to join in the executive and uphold the aims and ideals of the Legion.

R. Atkinson, President of the Pentiction branch, spoke on the aims of his feeling and the feeling of comradeship that still prevails among the veterans of former wars and the strength it is lending to all their activities in these trying times.
S. Thomas, President of the Summerland branch, spoke on similar lines and gave a short talk on the work they were doing in Summerland, reporting that they were 100 per cent in favor of the total war effort outlined by the Canadian Legion. He also extended a hearty invitation to all who wished to attend their meetings.

Constable W. W. Hemmingway spoke of after-the-war problems and outlined a number of ways in which the Legion should step out and lead the way. He felt that the Axis would be brought to their knees, as we were just beginning to drive them back, and this time to see that we win the peace, that these wars will not happen every so often. He urged that veterans should get out of the groove that they have drifted into and lend a helping hand to the boys now and when they get back.

can to help them to re-establish themselves. He also urged that all conjointly in the Empire, with our Allies, should aid in controlling the aftermath of the war, with the hardest part of the conflict.

Ben Newton and George Lampard contributed songs, with F. Hancock at the piano, while P. Hawkes, W.
Snow and Scotty Jack entertained with some brightly stories. A sing-song of old war songs, with the mel-lows around the piano, finished a very interesting program which concluded with the National Anthem. G. L.
Watt acted as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Officers for the year were elected at the annual meeting of the B.C.F.G.A. Local held on Friday evening, November 21, in the Legion Hall. C. C. Heighway was re-elected as President, with J. Cameron, Secretary-Treasurer, and A.
Ruffe, W. B. Sanderson, J. Maddock and E. F. Gummow, Directors. All were elected by acclamation. The President and Secretary were appointed to represent Peachland at the annual convention. W. B. Sanderson, who retired from the secretarial office when he held for many years, has represented Peachland at B.C.F.G.A. conventions for a long time, and his experience and interest in fruit affairs will still be available to the local organization as a member of the executive.

Mrs. W. D. Miller and Mrs. C. T.
Redstone are acting as auditors of the Women's Institute financial statement for the year, and they met at the home of the latter on Friday, November 21, to audit the books.

C. H. Jackson, Municipal Auditor, was in town last week preparing the financial statement for the eleven-month period so that a statement may be available for the annual meeting, which will be held prior to the election.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PHEASANTS

Kelowna, November 25, 1941.
To the Editor, Kelowna Courier:
The Directors of this Association read with a great deal of interest
the report of the address by Mr. J.
C. West at the game dinner held in Kelowna two weeks ago Thursday.

We are in entire agreement with your article in the "H.C." column regarding the rights of property owners. Our experience with hunters shooting over our land has been one of broken fences, gates left open, live stock shot. Some sportsmen sum to think that the possession of a gun licence gives them authority to disregard the common property rights of the farmer. Many sportsmen evidently do not know that pheasants are the greatest crop destroying pest that the farmer has to put up with. These birds are not natives of this country and could not exist if it were not for the feed and protection furnished by the farmer's crops. The farmers in this district have petitioned the Government for years for relief from the depredations of pheasants. So far without success, except for some totally inadequate measures which have not resulted in much relief, such as the latest one, granting permission to shoot hen pheasants for three days. We believe there are more pheasants left in the district than ever before.

Therefore, it appears to me that O. L. Jones' reasoning is faulty. He appears to be seeking a reward for something that may not exist. Or, if it does exist, he'd cancel the sacrifice. Naturally, if there is no work at the Coast, people move coast-wards or become coastwise.
The truth is that, apart from supreme sacrifice, perfection does not consist in sacrifice. For sacrifice, to our conceiving, many men are necessary to keep one man in the field or in the skies. Needless to say, many in the services have bettered themselves to a great degree,
both monetarily and physically.
Thus, some sacrifices are a kind of herring. We may be greeting privations that do not exist, but go on seeking self and disorder remain within us.

Our patience is exhausted. We have lost hope of getting any relief from the sportsmen or from the Game Department, and at our annual meeting we intend to advise our members to clean out these pests by taking concerted action as soon as our crops are planted by getting out and driving them out of the vegetable growing district.

Yours very truly,
Central Okanagan Vegetable
Growers' Association,
M. W. MARSHALL,
President.

OPTIONAL SACRIFICE OR SUPREME

Kelowna, November 2, 1941.
To the Editor, Kelowna Courier:
I don't know whether O. L. Jones' claim that "this district is contributing more than its share" is true.

Canadian Legion met on Wednesday afternoon, November 19, in the Legion Hall.

Mrs. W. E. Clements and Miss Edith Duquenois accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. Garraway on a motor trip to Calgary and will return by train.

Mrs. McCormick and three daughters, of Revelstoke, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Len Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Potter, of Penticton, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T.
Redstone.

Mrs. H. Morgan left Saturday, November 22, by Greyhound for California.

Mrs. A. Ferguson is spending a holiday at Vancouver.

Miss N. Ramsay, of the Peachland School staff, was taken to the Kelowna Hospital last week, and is reported to be making good progress.

Mrs. R. Fulk, and infant son left Tuesday, November 11, for Vancouver, where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stewart left Friday, November 21, by train from West Summerland for Vancouver and Howe Sound, where they will spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs.
R. Nourse.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ibbotson and daughter Justine, have returned from a motor trip to White Rock.

Mrs. Grant Eddy and children left Saturday for Vancouver, where they will join Mr. Grant Eddy and spend the winter months there.

Mrs. E. H. Pierce spent several days last week as the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Penfold, of Kelowna.

Mrs. F. Haker, of Rutland, was a week-end visitor at her home here.

Pte. T. Roberts, of Vernon, spent the week-end at his home here.

A. Kopp returned recently from a trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. F. Bradley was a patient in the Kelowna Hospital recently.

uting men and money far exceeding in proportion other districts in B.C." is true, I've heard a similar claim made for Kelowna in the last war, which was untrue. Anyway, it has no special significance. You don't contribute anything. Men either enlist or are recruited. As for money, as things are nowadays, the War Loan is a good investment.

As an ex-soldier, I appreciate the value of conscription, but I deprecate the importance attached to numbers enlisted in any particular town or village.

A voluntary army in regard to men consists in the main of: Firstly, the bulk of young men who, in a sense of duty, naturally fall in line;
secondly, the fervent crusader;
thirdly, the unemployed; fourthly, the man who is careless about his age. The man who attests beyond the age set by the authorities, is less he has special qualifications, is certainly not a Sir Galahad in search of the Holy Grail. Granting exceptions, he may easily become a liability and a nuisance after the war.

So, you see the specific idea of numbers does not necessarily reveal a certain measure of sacrifice. As to sacrifice, there is, of course, no "greater love" than supreme sacrifice. However, many men are necessary to keep one man in the field or in the skies. Needless to say, many in the services have bet-
tered themselves to a great degree,
both monetarily and physically.
Thus, some sacrifices are a kind of
herring. We may be greeting privations that do not exist, but go
on seeking self and disorder remain within us.

Obviously, then, it would be more perfect to sacrifice satisfaction for the restoration of the whole, service men and civilians alike. Assuredly in a war of this nature!

Yours faithfully,
E. R. ELLIS-TUCKER.

EARLY MAILING

Ottawa, Nov. 21, 1941.
The Editor, Kelowna Courier.

The Public Relations Branch of my department has on several occasions within the past few weeks brought to my attention news items, illustrations and, in fact, whole pages from newspapers published in various sections of the country, all stressing the importance of "Early Mailing" of parcels addressed to our Overseas troops.

I also observed that many newspaper advertisements of business firms included references and general data in regard to the need of "Early Mailing," proper packing and correct addressing of Overseas parcels.

"Early Mailing" at this season of each year is always an important question, but today with an ever-growing number of troops abroad, it has greater significance than ever.

MISSION GIRL MARRIED IN EAST

Kitty Haverfield is Wed to Lieut. J. V. H. Wilson, of Hamilton, Ont.

A wedding of much interest to their many friends in the Okanagan took place in the Chapel of Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, Ontario, on Saturday evening, November 15th, when Katharine T. Haverfield wed Lieut. John Victor Hyde Wilson, of B.C. Regt., D.C.O.R., Camp Borden. Capt. Brooks, A.I.I. area chaplain, officiated at the ceremony. The bride wore a pale blue crepe gown with a corsage of pink roses and forget-me-nots. She was attended by Miss Joyce Haverfield as bridesmaid, wearing a dusky pink gown with a corsage of pink roses. Lieut. Arthur Tong, B.C. Regt., D.C.O.R., was groomsmen. Pte. Alan Painter of C.A.T.S., Hamilton, gave the bride away.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of Mrs. F. R. Martin, among the guests being a number of Okanagan friends, Lieut. and Mrs. Wilson left for Niagara on a brief honeymoon.

Mrs. Wilson, until her marriage, was an inspector of gun parts at the Otis-Fenson factory, Hamilton.

ROYAL PURPLE ASSISTS BOMBED BRITISH CHILDREN

Over One Hundred And Fifty New Garments For Under Fives Given As Admission To Tea

The ladies of the Royal Purple Lodge entertained nearly two hundred ladies of Kelowna and district at the tea hour last Thursday afternoon, at the Royal Anne Hotel. The admission charge was a new article of wearing apparel for children under the age of five years, and over one hundred and fifty garments were collected. These will be turned over to the local depot of the Bombed Britons for distribution. The attractive tea table was centered with a bouquet of diminutive flags flanked by tall ivory tapers in crystal sconces. A lovely display of prize chrysanthemums was loaned by S. J. Weeks for the occasion. The V-for-Victory was the main decorative theme, and members of the lodge wore V identification badges.

Mrs. W. Hughes-Games and Mrs. George Kennedy poured tea for the first hour, and Mrs. O. Francis and Mrs. W. S. Dawson poured during the second hour, while members of the organization acted as servers.

Mrs. Harold Johnston won the knitted afghan and cushion, which were raffled during the afternoon, little Valerie Mitchell drawing the winning ticket.

The Corps will attend the St. John's Ambulance lecture in the Junior High School on Tuesday evening, at 19.30 hours.

More About
if any, events calling for a paid admission staged on the oval. During a period of years it would be possible to erect a wire fence in keeping with the rest of the Park and not obstructing the view of detracting from the attractiveness of the Park. The proponents of this idea argue that it would increase the beauty of the Park a very great deal.

The picnic grounds at the southern end of the Park will also be improved. The improvement here will take the form of a row of low posts, which will prevent cars and trucks from parking south of the roadway.
At the present time this area is used extensively for bathing and picnics, and cars may use the two unsurfaced drives through the area. This results in clouds of dust and a constant danger of some small child being hit by a car. The row of posts will prevent the cars from intruding on the picnic area, while the picnicers may park their cars just across the roadway.

Two corner rockeries are being made at the corners of the parking lot opposite the Aquatic Club. These will not be long ones such as that at the northern end of the circle, but will be corner ones and should accentuate the circle area and add considerably to the beauty of the area.

That section between the black-topped walk and the Aquatic grandstand is also receiving attention. Soil is being placed over the sand, and this will be seeded into lawn, and the low stone wall now in front of the Aquatic will be continued almost to the water. This will complete the beautification plans for the Aquatic property.

It is expected, also, that this year the blacktop promenade will be continued southwards along the shore until it meets with the roadway somewhere just north of the picnic ground.

Another projected improvement is the building of a band shell in a natural tree-bordered oval which runs westward from the present parking lot opposite the Aquatic. If such a shell could be erected, it would be a simple matter to level the ground, plant it in grass and place a number of benches between the trees.

This is considered an important project, as it has sadly been demonstrated here this year that Kelowna badly needs a band shell of some sort. On three or four occasions this year outstanding bands visited the city and were forced to play on an open bandstand, which resulted in much of their music being lost. The re-erection of the shell in this location, the advocates maintain, would prove a blessing to the citizens in a score of ways.

Alderman R. Parkinson, chairman of the Parks Department, stated on Tuesday that it was necessary to remove some of the trees in the Park.

"While some trees must come out," he stated, "the public can rest assured that no tree will be taken out without a very good reason. The truth is that many of the cottonwoods in the Park are past their prime. Many of them are rotten and are actually dangerous."

"Last summer the Parks Board went over the Park and marked all those trees which were obviously dead or dying. It is these in the main which are being taken out. The Parks Board has approved of every tree that has been marked."

"The whole idea of the work is to improve the general appearance of the Park and to make it of more value to the citizens generally. A rotten tree in a park is a definite danger, and these must be eliminated. The one or two sound trees that are coming out are being eliminated for excellent reasons in each case. For instance, one stands right on a corner of a roadway and makes that corner an absolute right angle. It will be removed and the corner rounded off."

"The greatest consideration has been given every tree and every project undertaken. While the results of the work cannot be seen this fall, they will be very evident next spring, when it will seem, I believe, as though the Park has a much greater area in lawn and will have a much more 'well-kept' appearance. The Park is one of our greatest assets, and every move has been made with a view to improving it."

LAST RED CROSS JAM HAS BEEN SHIPPED

The last of the jam packed under the direction of the Kelowna Red Cross at the Modern Foods plant has been packed for shipment overseas, reports L. A. Stephens, secretary of the local branch.

The fruit for this jam was collected by the Women's Institutes of the adjacent districts, prepared, and sent in for processing by the local workers.

Mrs. Arbuckle paid tribute to the memory of three members who had passed away during the past year in the persons of Mrs. M. E. Cameron, who was the Auxiliary's Honorary President, Mrs. W. R. Foster and Mrs. B. T. Haverfield. Mrs. Cameron had been one of the organizers of the Hospital Auxiliary and since the organization's inception had been an active and interested worker and a regular attendant at the meetings.

The President closed her report with an appeal for a material increase in membership during the coming year and hoped that the members would make a point of regular attendance at the monthly meetings.

Women's Hospital Auxiliary Accomplished Splendid Work In Activities of Past Year

Mrs. H. W. Arbuckle Re-elected President of Auxiliary at Annual Meeting—More Than Thousand Dollars Expended For Linen And Supplies For Kelowna Institution—Committees Have Done Splendid Work Says President

THE ANNUAL meeting of the Kelowna Hospital Women's Auxiliary, held on Monday, November 24, at the Board of Trade rooms, demonstrated the tremendous amount of work done by the organization and the vital assistance being rendered to the Kelowna General Hospital. The reports handed down gave an insight into the activities of the auxiliary which contributes in a large measure to the hospital's operation and maintenance. The amount of work done by the auxiliary has greatly increased during the past two years through the opening of the new hospital with an additional 35 beds, requiring a much larger supply of linen and other necessary items.

Mrs. H. W. Arbuckle, the Auxiliary's indefatigable President, was returned to office at the annual meeting. Mrs. R. A. Fraser, past Treasurer, takes the office of Secretary this year, and Miss E. Taylor was elected to the post of Treasurer. The full slate of officers elected is as follows: President, Mrs. H. W. Arbuckle; First Vice-President, Mrs. H. K. Todd; Second Vice-President, Mrs. R. A. Fraser, and Treasurer, Miss E. Taylor. Members of the executive for the coming year comprise Mrs. A. C. Loosmore, Mrs. V. H. Wilson, Mrs. W. Spear and Mrs. J. S. Henderson.

Conveners of standing committees for the ensuing year are: Linen, Mrs. E. L. Cross; Buying, Mrs. B. Hoy; Sewing, Mrs. K. Duggan; Social Service, Mrs. L. A. C. Panting; Library, Mrs. Taylor; Advertising, Mrs. J. F. Hampson.

In presenting her report, Mrs. Arbuckle commented on the success of the organization's various activities during the past year, which included the annual bridge drive, home cooking sale, garden drive and tag day. The President paid tribute to the committees in charge of these events and pointed out that without their hard and conscientious work the activities would not have produced such splendid results.

In addition to the usual annual events, Mrs. Arbuckle also touched on the popularity of the Vancouver Province Modern Kitchen classes, which were held under the auspices of the Auxiliary.

In spite of increased demands for work and money from other sources owing to the war, the President expressed her gratification that the Auxiliary had raised the sum of $1,086.52 during the past year. This amount exceeds last year's record by more than $100 and was very welcome owing to increased requirements by the Hospital.

A large amount of linen had been purchased during the year to bring the supply up to standard, and a reserve accumulated.

The Auxiliary had purchased a sewing machine, and this acquisition was of great assistance in the sewing room and also to the housekeeper.

In her comment on the immense amount of work carried on "behind the scenes," the President said: "I wish to thank the officers and the members of the executive and the conveners for their splendid co-operation and assistance in our fund-raising activities and to all standing committees for their splendid work throughout the year. We all recognize that upon these committees the success and real usefulness of our organization depends."

The Auxiliary had two sewing bees, and the President pointed out that a number of the members had also done considerable work at home.

The library had proved a boon to the patients in the district twice weekly, and its work had been carried on by Miss M. Stiell, Mrs. Bowring and now by Mrs. R. Prosser.

Mrs. Arbuckle paid tribute to the memory of three members who had passed away during the past year in the persons of Mrs. M. E. Cameron, who was the Auxiliary's Honorary President, Mrs. W. R. Foster and Mrs. B. T. Haverfield. Mrs. Cameron had been one of the organizers of the Hospital Auxiliary and since the organization's inception had been an active and interested worker and a regular attendant at the meetings.

The President closed her report with an appeal for a material increase in membership during the coming year and hoped that the members would make a point of regular attendance at the monthly meetings.

The Treasurer's report, presented

WESTBANK PLANS WAR SAVINGS

Formulate Campaign Policy—BCEGA Local Selects Convention Delegates

A. H. Davidson was the unanimous choice for President at the annual meeting of the Westbank Local BCEGA, when members gathered at the Community Hall on Tuesday, November 15, with the Past-President, J. U. Gellatly, who did not care to act again, in the chair.

Standing of the Westbank Local shows a membership of over fifty growers with very few in the district not registered. The financial standing was also shown as good. Officers chosen for 1942, besides Mr. Davidson, were: I. L. Howlett, A. E. Drought and J. W. Hannam, executive members; C. J. Tolhurst, re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. Delegates to the annual convention, Mr. Davidson and C. Butt.

A committee was also appointed to interview Tree Fruits Ltd., regarding the proposed cold storage rates; the delay in closing the pools and quicker payments to growers. The committee is to report to a gathering in the near future, when all growers are urged to attend in order to learn just what is being done in their behalf.

Mrs. D. E. Gellatly, one of Westbank's oldest residents, celebrated her eighty-fourth birthday on Sunday, November 23, when several members of her family were with her, including Mrs. K. Hurlburt, Vernon, and Mrs. R. Walde, Penikese. Born in Scotland, Mrs. Gellatly came to Canada in 1883, where, with her husband and young family, she made her home in Kelowna until 1893, when the family moved to Vernon. In 1900 they moved to the Westbank district. Mr. Gellatly passed away in 1922.

Maurice Hardwick, of Lloydminster, arrived in Westbank last week, and is staying for the present at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hardwick.

War Savings

A well-attended public meeting in Westbank on Friday, November 21, was unanimously in favor of raising the amount allocated to this district for war weapons, by means of a box, or package, levy on fruits and vegetables, and by the required amount per household among non-fruit growers. A. H. Davidson, Chamber of Commerce President, and also Chairman of the War Savings Committee, occupied the chair, and H. A. Grant, who with C. Butt, comprises the committee, will go ahead with the necessary arrangements.

This meeting also dealt with the matter of gifts to Westbank boys who are in the forces, and it was found that, including two of our young women, the number serving is thirty-two. A representative committee of ladies was named for the committee: Mesdames Tolhurst, Lynn, D. Gellatly, Pritchard, Stewart, Reece, W. C. MacKay, and Miss E. A. Coles, and this committee is meeting this week to work out a plan for the War Savings Committee, and to arrange details for sending parcels at once.

The Blanket Fund for Bombed Britons benefited to the amount of $500 as a result of the gift made by Mrs. J. L. Dobbin's class of pianoforte pupils. These pupils gave two recitals recently, in Westbank and Peachland, and the above amount was given from the proceeds to this cause.

Miss Jacqueline Paynter, of Westbank, was the guest of honor at a party held at the home of Mrs. Washington Brown on Friday evening of last week. Miss Paynter, who has volunteered for service with the R.C.A.F., will be on her way to the East for training, presented with a handsome pen.

United Church Celebration
Special services marked the celebration of the third anniversary of the dedication of Westbank United Church, and held on Sunday, November 23, with Rev. Dr. A. D. McKinnon, M.A., Ph.D., taking both the afternoon and evening services. The choir, under the able leadership of the organist, Mrs. J. L. Dobbin, rendered suitable anthems and solo numbers.

On Monday, the Women's Association dined and entertained some 150 people at the annual supper, from 6 to 8 o'clock. Following this, a fine program, which included local and outside entertainment, delighted the large audience. Dr. McKinnon, acting as Chairman, and at the close of the evening, voicing the appreciation of everyone, he said that they had indeed been royally entertained. A number of Kelowna guests, Dr. W. W. McPherson, D.M., and Mrs. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. DeMara, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Day, were present, some giving several vocal and instrumental numbers, all of which were greatly enjoyed.

The program ended with all joining in singing "Auld Lang Syne," followed by the national anthem. Members of the W.A. felt that their efforts in arranging this annual event were well rewarded by the obvious enjoyment of their many guests, as well as by the proceeds, which will be devoted to the work of their organization.

L. L. KERRY SPEAKS TO A.O.T.S. CLUB

L. L. Kerry was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Kelowna A.O.T.S. Club, on Thursday, November 20, at the United Church Hall.
The speaker was one of the Kelowna representatives at Victoria, when delegates from all parts of the province met to discuss recruitment, and to discuss the experience of his ex-vice president, the conference, and Canada's need for recruits.
Supper was served by the young ladies' circle and the fifty members and guests were led in community singing by Dugald McFarlane.

Prisoner Of War Parcel Regulations Are Explained

Red Cross Does Its Part But Individuals Can Help

The Canadian Red Cross Society is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the members of the Canadian and British armed forces who are prisoners of war.

Food parcels for the prisoners of war are made up in Toronto, and each prisoner is sent six parcels every month by the society.

The Red Cross societies of Great Britain, New Zealand and Australia all make substantial contributions to the Canadian Red Cross Society to cover the tremendous job of sending these monthly parcels to all Empire prisoners of war, and thousands of parcels averaging from four to five pounds leave Canada every week for the prison camps of Europe.

Every prisoner of war receives these parcels, and distribution to individual prisoners starts as soon as the society receives a record of the prisoner from authoritative sources, and as soon as transportation facilities permit.

The parcels are made up by persons who are fully cognizant of the conditions existing in each prison camp, and the contents of each parcel are varied to suit these conditions. In other words, the society endeavors to put in the parcels the foods needed to complement the rations issued to the prisoners at the respective prison camps.

These parcels are a free service given by the Canadian Red Cross Society, and cannot be paid for by friends or relatives of the prisoners, but any one may contribute towards the cost of this service by making a contribution to the society at any time.

The only other type of parcel containing a number of articles that can be sent to war prisoners is a personal parcel which can only be forwarded by the prisoner's next-of-kin, as designated by him at the time of his enlistment. This parcel can only be sent once every three months and the types of articles to be included are strictly limited. No food other than chocolate bars can be sent, and in addition the parcel must not contain cigarette papers or holders, medicines, telegraphic or radio material, photographic apparatus, printed matter, money, stationery, pens and ink, heating apparatus or matches, tins which cannot be opened for inspection, or weapons of any kind, including pocket knives and scissors.

Outer garments will not be delivered until the prisoner is discharged.

These personal parcels are the sole responsibility of the sender and the Canadian Red Cross can have nothing to do with their delivery. Books, cards, games and amusements may be sent to prisoners by any firm which has been licensed by the Federal government for that purpose. The Red Cross has nothing to do with the type of parcel, and any one wishing to send such gifts should contact a dealer for further information. The majority of the Canadian firms dealing in this type of merchandise possess the necessary licenses.

Tobacco may be sent directly by the licensed tobacco companies and information can be secured from the companies or from most tobacco dealers. Such shipments are not subject to the federal excise tax, and the cost is therefore much lower than that paid by the Canadian consumer.

C.N.R. REVENUE UP $1,497,592

Weekly Period Ending Nov. 7 Shows Substantial Increase

Revenues of the Canadian National Railways system have shown a steady increase during the past year, and the report covering revenues for the week ending November 7, 1941, certifies that gross revenue amounted to $6,630,653. Revenue for the corresponding week last year was $5,133,061. The increase over last year was therefore $1,497,592.

War Now Brings "Messengerettes"

One thing to be said about the "Messengerettes" serving Canadian National Telegraphs in many Canadian cities, is that they do not whistle. Otherwise they possess the speed and efficiency of the boys they are replacing. The army and war services seriously depleted the delivery forces of Canadian National Telegraphs and girls, such as the Vancouver lassie here pictured, have proven satisfactory for the day time distribution of cables, telegrams and social messages.

OLIVER WOMAN NOT GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Mrs. Jessie Agnes Barton Freed By Assize Court Jury At Vernon Assizes, November 13 Last

Following an hour and a half's deliberation, the Assize Court jury at Vernon on Thursday, November 13, freed Mrs. Jessie Agnes Barton, of Oliver, on a charge of manslaughter.

The charge against the accused arose as a result of an automobile accident, in which the car she was driving plunged over the side of the road into Vaseux Lake. George Coniff, owner of the car, was drowned, while Mrs. Barton was fortunate enough to escape from the submerged vehicle.

Evidence submitted both by the Crown counsel, Harold McInnes, and D. J. MacKinlay, defence counsel, showed that there had been drinking prior to the accident.

The accused and her sister, Miss Jean Gould, met Alan Barton, her husband, Trooper Harold Ricketts and George Coniff on the afternoon of September 30.

The party decided to go to Penticton and left in two cars. In Coniff's car was Mrs. Barton, who was driving. In the other car were Barton, Ricketts and Miss Gould.

When they reached Penticton, they visited some friends and then after purchasing a case of beer, left for home.

At the south end of Vaseux Lake, the Barton car stopped to wait for their friends, who were following behind, and when they failed to appear they retraced their steps to see what had caused the delay.

As the Barton car drove back along the road, it came to a spot where, looking down into the lake, the occupants could see the lights of a car shining through the water and they heard Mrs. Barton screaming. She was found hanging on to the rocks at the lakeside, but there was no sign of Coniff.

None of the party could swim, and they returned to Oliver and notified the police.

The car was found by the police thirty feet from shore in thirty feet of water, facing almost at right angles to the lakeshore, the nose of the vehicle pointing out into the lake.

The Crown alleged that the car was being driven at a high speed prior to the tragedy, this being shown by the fact that it landed well out in the lake.

Evidence given by the accused woman was that the brakes had locked, and that Coniff had grabbed the steering wheel and had swung the car across the road and into the lake.

Before releasing the prisoner, Mr. Justice A. I. Fisher, the presiding judge, said: "I take the liberty of saying that you should not drink while driving, or once more you will be in serious trouble."
